KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Professor Judith Seltzer

Department of Sociology, University of California,
Los Angeles (UCLA)

2016 President, Population Association of America

Director, UCLA California Center for Population Research

Family and Demographic Change: Problems and Progress

Judith A. Seltzer is professor of sociology and director of the California Center for Population Research at the University of California, Los Angeles. Previously, she was on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin–Madison, where she contributed to the development and implementation of the U.S. National Survey of Families and Households. Her research interests include kinship patterns, intergenerational obligations, relationships between nonresident fathers and children, and how legal institutions and other policies affect family change.

She is especially interested in kinship institutions that are in flux, such as marriage and cohabitation in the contemporary United States or divorced, non-marital, and step families. She also explores ways to improve the quality of survey data on families, and in 2013 Seltzer and her colleagues added a module with family rosters to the Panel Study of Income Dynamics to provide new data on U.S. family networks.

She currently serves on the Committee on National Statistics (CNSTAT) of the U.S. National Academies of Sciences (NAS). Previously she served on the CNSTAT Standing Committee on Reengineering Census Operations, and several NAS panels on the census. She was president of the Population Association of America in 2016. She has a B.A. in sociology from Princeton University and both an M.A. and Ph.D. in sociology from the University of Michigan.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Professor Wolfgang Lutz

Founding Director, Wittgenstein Centre for Demography and Global Human Capital

Director, World Population Program, International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA)

Director, Vienna Institute of Demography

Professor for Social and Economic Statistics,
Vienna University of Economics and Business

Population and Climate Change

Wolfgang Lutz is Founding Director of the Wittgenstein Centre for Demography and Global Human Capital, a cooperation between IIASA (where he directs the World Population Program), the Austrian Academy of Sciences (where he is scientific director of the Vienna Institute of Demography), and the Vienna University of Economics and Business (where he is Professor of Applied Statistics). He holds a PhD in Demography from the University of Pennsylvania.

He has widely published on international population trends with a special focus on population forecasting, population-development-environment interactions and introducing education as a standard demographic dimension in addition to age and sex. He has published over 250 scientific articles, including 11 in Science and Nature. His most recent book with OUP is entitled “World Population and Human Capital in the 21st Century”. He has won prestigious awards including the Wittgenstein Prize, two ERC Advanced Grants, the Mattei Dogan award of the IUSSP and the Mindel Shaps Award of PAA. He is member of the Austrian Academy of Sciences, the Leopoldina, the World Academy of Sciences (TWAS), the Finnish Society for Sciences and Letters, and the US National Academy of Sciences (NAS).

Professor Lutz has been appointed by the UN Secretary-General to be one of the 15 members of the Independent Group of Scientists whose task is to produce the quadrennial Global Sustainable Development Report 2019.
