

AGING IN ASIA

Demographic Trends & Implications

This seminar explores the socio-economic and policy implications of aging throughout Asia. Speakers will discuss the mechanisms of “demographic dividend”, governmental efforts by various Asian nations to address the effects of working-age-population decline, as well as evaluate long term care measures and policies focusing on the elderly.

Introduction

by Dr. Sung-won KIM, Meijigakuin University, Japan

Demographic Dividend and Employment of the Elderly

by Prof. Keiichiro OIZUMI, The Japan Research Institute

Population Aging & Long Term Care for the Elderly in Japan & Korea

by Dr. Seonhee CHOI, Institute of Social Science, Hyupsung University

19 August 2016, Friday

12 – 1:30pm

Research Division Seminar

Room, AS7 #06-42,

The Shaw Foundation Building, NUS Kent Ridge Campus

RSVP

Email fasshealth@nus.edu.sg

by 12 Aug 2016; free registration

Light lunch will be served.