

Lecturer in Korean Language

Date: 6 October 2023

National University of Singapore

Location: Kent Ridge Campus, Singapore

Job Description

Centre for Language Studies

National University of Singapore

Estimated start time July 2024

The National University of Singapore (NUS) invites applications for the following full-time faculty position in the Centre for Language Studies:

Lecturer for Korean Language in Educator Track

The Centre, a Centre under the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, currently teaches thirteen languages, mainly to undergraduates at elementary, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Applicants for the position should have at least a Master's degree in the Teaching of Korean as a Foreign Language, Applied Linguistics or any related field with at least three years of experience in teaching Korean as a foreign language and in curriculum development at the tertiary level. Skills/knowledge/experience in the application of IT to language teaching and/or research in Korean as a foreign language would be an advantage. The appointee's duties will include a wide range of teaching and developmental tasks for lectures as well as course administration. Appointment will be made on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement.

Remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation, leave, medical and housing benefits are provided in accordance with the applicable NUS regulations. Applicants may contact the Centre if they have any queries.

Applications are to be made in English. Those interested in the position should submit in one single document comprising, a cover letter, a CV, a brief teaching philosophy statement, copies of educational certificates, samples of self-developed materials, and the names and contact information (including e-mail addresses) of three academic referees. Applicants should preferably provide a video recording of their classroom teaching. The application should be submitted through this online portal only.

The closing date for application is 12 November 2023. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.
