

ECA5401 Graduate Internship in Applied Economics

In today's competitive job market, academic excellence alone is not enough. This course gives masters students in applied economics the opportunity to apply their theoretical knowledge in a real-world environment, gain essential people skills, forge industry connections, and enhance their employability upon graduation. This course requires students to perform a minimum of 20 hours per week of structured internship in an approved company/institution for a minimum period of 12 weeks.

Securing Internships : Internships can be sourced independently or through NUS IAAS and NUS TalentConnect.

- Students are responsible for finding their own internship opportunities and seeking approval from the Department.
- Further information about NUS IAAS and NUS TalentConnect could be obtained from the Centre for Future-ready Graduates (CFG) team (email: careers@nus.edu.sg).
- Students who require support for their internship (such as career consultation, resume critiques, mock Interviews, as well as internship and networking advice) may schedule an in-person meeting with a Career Advisor at NUS TalentConnect. More information can be found at the CFG website.

Internship Location : All internships must be conducted in person, whether in Singapore or internationally; no virtual or remote arrangements will be accepted.

Pre-requisite : Students must have completed at least one semester of studies, including the three core courses (ECA5101, ECA5102 and ECA5103).

Offer Semesters : Internships are only available during the regular academic semesters – Semester 1 and Semester 2.

Internship Duration : A minimum 12 weeks is required.

- The internship period must commence no later than the end of Instructional Week 1. Any start times after this will not be accepted.
- The internship must be completed within a single semester, and students are required to submit the necessary reports by the stipulated deadlines (refer to Internship Course Registration Process and Assessments' Submission Deadline); no extensions to the following semester will be considered.
- Any period beyond the Instructional Week 13 will not be considered as part of the credit bearing internship course.

Working Hours :

- Singapore: In accordance with the Employment Act, students should not work more than 8 hours in a day or more than 44 hours in a week. However, they may work overtime, up to 12 hours per day and no more than 72 hours per month, if they agree to it.
- Overseas: Students must comply with the employment laws of the host country.

Min/Max Workload during the Internship Semester:

- Students are required to concentrate solely on their internship course and are not permitted to enroll in any other courses during the same semester.

Supervision : The Department's internship course lecturer will provide supervision.

Grading : The grading will be CS/CU (Completed Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory).

Assessment : The assessment consists of an internship proposal (10%), five bi-weekly reports (50%), and one final report at the end of the internship (40%).

1. Internship proposal (10%)

Students who wish to enrol in the credit-bearing internship course must submit a proposal. This should include detailed information about the host organization, the specific internship position, and a clear timeline of the start and end dates. It should also define specific learning objectives that align with their academic curriculum and career aspirations.

The proposal should explain how the internship complements their coursework and applies theoretical knowledge in a practical environment. It should clearly outline the skills and knowledge they expect to gain, emphasizing how these will foster their professional development and prepare them for future career opportunities.

2. Reports (90%)

Students are required to submit five bi-weekly reports (50%) and one final report at the end of internship (40%).

(1). Bi-weekly reports (50%)

Students are required to submit bi-weekly reports that serve as snapshots of their internship journey. These reports should clearly highlight recent accomplishments, completed tasks, and challenges faced during the specified period. Emphasis should be placed on connecting these experiences with predefined learning objectives, demonstrating the tangible contributions the internship is making to skill development. In addition, students are required to outline upcoming tasks and actively seek feedback for continuous improvement. Reflection on received feedback, professional growth, and personal development should be incorporated into the reports to foster open communication.

(2). Final Internship Report (40%)

The final report should offer a comprehensive overview of the entire internship, showcasing major accomplishments and emphasizing the contributions made over the entire duration. Students are expected to explore the skills gained during the internship, providing examples of their practical applications in a real-world work setting. The report should address the challenges faced, strategies employed, and lessons learned throughout the internship. Furthermore, students are required to reflect on feedback received, evaluating both strengths and areas for improvement. The report should conclude with reflections on how the internship experience will influence their future academic and career goals.
