

Cities as sociotechnical systems

- Urban transformations occur through the reconfiguration of the multi-scalar networks (e.g., GPN), institutions, industries, markets, and technologies that shape a city's exchange (what it trades) and use (quality of life) value.

