

NUS HEALTH AND WELLBEING (HWB) SCHOLARSHIP

The inaugural NUS Health and Wellbeing (HWB) Scholarship is designed to attract talented clinical psychologists to embark on a meaningful career in the NUS Health and Wellbeing department. The scholarship is open to students enrolled in the Master of Psychology (Clinical) programme in the NUS Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences (FASS). Successful applicants will take on the role of a Wellbeing Specialist Partner (Clinical Psychologist) upon graduation, and contribute to efforts to enhance the wellbeing of our NUS community.

ABOUT HWB

At NUS, we value the health and wellbeing of our staff.

Health and Wellbeing (Office of the President) is responsible for the innovation, implementation and evaluation of health and wellbeing programmes. Our mission is to facilitate people's journey towards a state of complete physical, mental and social wellbeing, where we realise our own potential and contribute meaningfully to our work and communities. We support the general NUS population, as well as specific employees exposed to acute, stressful events. Together, we can help our people stay healthy and meaningfully engaged.
